World Affairs Delegates Give Report To Rotarians

Charles Mark Allen (left) and Brent Burrow are welcomed to the Rotary Club Tuesday following their return from Cincinnati by President Bob Morgan. Both provided a program of experiences and observations. See story.

Charles Mark Allen and Brent Burrow, high school juniors from the twin Cities schools, were featured guests of the Fulton Rotary Club Tuesday in a program provided by Paul Westpheling.

Both young men have just returned from the Rotary World Affairs Institute in Cincinnati, to which they were sponsored by the local club, and both provided accounts of their trip and of the speakers at the institute sessions.

The two-day institute, an annual affair in Cincinnati to which the local club has sent picked delegates for the last ten years or so, had as its 1964 theme "Central and South America", and both not only heard authoritative national speakers on this subject, but were also afforded an opportunity to meet and talk with exchange students from several of these countries.

Allen, a junior at Fulton High, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Allen, Fulton Route 4. He is an Eagle Scout, senior patrol leader in his troop and outstanding in Scouting work. He is an honor student and an editor on the next year's annual.

Burrow, a junior at South Fulton, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Mac Burrow, Fulton Route 5. He is very active in 4-H club work, a member of the 4-H honor club and owner of 20 head of registered Guernsey cattle. His herd has won many prizes, including two grand championships.

Banana Festival president Joe Trees was reading the Constitution and By-laws of the festival corporation to be adopted by the local board Tuesday night. Joe came across a section that said "any member of the board desiring to do business with the festival corporation cannot vote in any action when the board is voting on a purchase from said board member's firm."

Said board member Ruby McDade to board member Frank LeMaster: "That doesn't affect me because I haven't got anything to sell to the festival."

Said board member Frank LeMaster to board member Ruby McDade: "It doesn't affect me, either, because what I've got to sell nobody wants to buy."

As you well know Frank LeMaster is an undertaker.

Our good friend John Breckinridge is looking for some local person to head up a committee to solicit donations to the Kennedy Memorial Library Fund drive in Kentucky. There must be many people in our area who would like to make some large or small contribution to this drive if they were contacted. But even if we don't get a local chairman, and you want to give, just send your contribution to the Kennedy Memorial Library Fund, P. O. Box 537, Frankfort, Ky. School children, especially are asked to get up a donation, no matter how small, to send to the memorial fund. In Metcalfe County, thousands of youngsters participated to send a check for $106 to the fund. Why don't some energetic youngsters take this project in hand?

This is a true story told to us by one of our favorite clergymen. The telephone rang at the parsonage and the minister answered the phone.

The conversation went like this: "Yes this is 441-8713!" (The number is fictitious to protect the innocent.)

"Yes, this is the conservation office. But it's the SOUL CONSERVATION OFFICE, NOT THE SOIL CONSERVATION OFFICE."

I think that if I live another 20 years, and am still fairly sane, I will be able to note with some sadness the obliteration of dozens of customs that were standard procedures when I first made my debut in this world a half-century ago. Every day we see something new replacing something "old." Some changes are for the better, some not so. The changes that I see in every day living are just too numerous to enumerate. But one possible custom that might leave us in the years to come is the age-old legal practice of trials by jury.

South Fulton Votes Public Funds To Pay Attorney's Fees For Bland And Jones

Here Is Bill South Fulton Council Oked

March 19, 1964

Messrs. O. L. LAMASCUS, John Bland and B. B. Jones

South Fulton, Tennessee.

In Account with
Heathcock, Elam & Cloys
Attorneys-at-Law
Old & Third National Bank Bldg.
Union City, Tennessee

For services in connection with the declaratory judgment suit filed by City of South Fulton, Tennessee, against O. L. Lamascus in the Circuit Court of Obion County, including attendance at City Council meeting in South Fulton on Saturday, March 7, 1964, trial in the Circuit Court on March 14, 1964, office conferences and legal research.

$200.00

(This is a copy)

The South Fulton City Council was in a belligerent and yet generous mood at the regular meeting Monday night. It appropriated $2000 for South Fulton School's recreational fund and fired the City Attorney at the same time. Two new City Councilmen, W. W. Claiborne and John Freeman, voted taxpayers' money to pay the private attorney's fees of Councilmen B. B. Jones and John Bland. By a vote of 4 to 2, a $200 fee to the Union City law firm of Heathcock, Elam and Cloys was approved for legal services rendered to Jones and Bland in the controversy regarding Mayor Milton Counce's veto of the appointment of O. L. Lamascus. Councilmen Bobby Matthews and Rex Ruddle voted against paying for the legal service contracted for by O. L. Lamascus, John Bland and B. B. Jones. Lamascus, voted upon by three Councilmen to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Arthur Matheny removed himself as an appointee on the Friday, before Obion Judge Ethel Morris ruled the Counce veto illegal, on Saturday.

The statement from the law firm of Heathcock, Elam and Cloys indicates that the Councilmen contracted for the legal services privately and each were billed as private individuals. There is no record on the minutes at the South Fulton City Hall authorizing either Councilmen Jones or Bland to hire legal counsel to litigate in the matter of the Mayor's veto. The News was reliably informed that the action of Jones and Bland to vote public funds to pay for their private account is liable for ouster from public office and possible indictment.

A News reporter called the Bland home at noon on Wednesday for a statement regarding his vote to pay the attorney's fees contracted for by himself and two others. The call was not returned. Bland accompanied by Claiborne came into the newspaper office at press time. When Bland was asked if the Council authorized the trio to hire counsel, Mr. Bland, repeatedly said: "It all transpired at the meeting Monday night." (The minutes of Monday night's meeting do not record any authorization for the Bland, Jones, Lamascus attorney's fees.)

The Council also voted to pay the statement for $215 submitted by City Attorney Charles Fields in the Lamascus judgment. Fifteen dollars of Fields' statement was for attendance at a meeting. Fields, long time legal advisor was fired by the Bland, Jones, Claiborne, Freeman combine. In the bedlam that prevailed at the meeting, when aroused spectators had to be quieted by local police, Mayor Milton Counce attempted to defend Fields in the matter. The four members of the council, in their questionable action, took no notice of the Counce appeal.

Mr. Fields, employed as legal advisor to the City Council at a salary of $25.00 a month said his arrangement with the City of South Fulton is to get extra fees for extra services. Contending that his employment with South Fulton is based on the city's charter stating that the "Mayor may appoint legal counsel," Fields stated that he will abide by the Mayor's statement regarding future services to the City of South Fulton.

How Goes It These Days In South Fulton?

How goes it in South Fulton? Not good! Nearly a month ago, Judge Ethel Morris in rendering a decision that Mayor Counce's veto of O. L. Lamascus for a position on the City was illegal, admonished the officials that they discharge their duties agreeably or resign.

Everybody shook hands and made up! Bland beating speeches were made to "protect the rights of the citizens and get that city rolling again."

It's really rolling! City Attorney Charles Fields has been fired by four members of the City Council. When asked if he was fired or hired, Fields said he didn't know.

Popular, conscientious Harold Henderson has resigned. John Freeman was nominated by B. B. Jones as the Henderson replacement. Bobby Matthews and Rex Ruddle voted against Freeman.

A movement is on foot to change the form of government in South Fulton. In Tennessee the change-over, to the City Manager form, can be made in a matter of a few weeks, instead of many months as in Kentucky.

If adopted, that would mean in effect that the present

Fulton Finalist In Development Contest; Abilities Of Twin Communities Shown At Banana Festival

All of us are bustin' with pride at the announcement made this past week-end that Fulton, Kentucky is one of the seven finalists in the Community Development Contest sponsored by the Kentucky Chamber of Commerce. We may, or may not, win the top award, but one thing is abundantly clear, the fantastic amount of community effort that went into bringing us to the finalist plateau should be a matter of pride to all of us.

Our presentation to the judging committee is the heroic story of a small town and how everybody worked to improve our lot.

So many times, as we read the volumes of mail and periodicals that come across our desk, we wish that we had some sort of Aladdin's lamp to light the way to understanding between the busy, busy industrial executive and Smalltown, U. S. A. We think that our twin communities, even with our periodic controversies, best exemplify the vigor, the imagination and the energy so vitally needed to keep this country on the move.

In this light we enjoy looking back on last year's Banana Festival, when in the short period of eight weeks we hurdled some almost insurmountable obstacles to make the festival an accomplishment that would have staggered the efforts of metropolitan areas ten, twenty, even fifty times the size of Fulton. We proved to ourselves and to the world that no task was too large or too small for us to tackle, and with remarkable success, too. Let's look back to review just what we did do and the areas in which we did them.

FINANCING: Although the National Banana Association, an organization of some 8 banana importers, contributed nearly $7500 to the festival, our local people, through donations ranging from $25 to $500, raised approximately $9000 with which to stage the festival. It took no hard-pressed pressure to raise this money. People believed in the Festival idea and in their community and they gave generously. Every expenditure to stage the festival was paid out of these advance contributions. Monies received from admission to the various events was deposited to operate the Festival organization during the year. There was no deficit spending. We operated on a budget and stayed within it, cautiously and efficiently.

TRAFFIC: Who would have ever imagined that 30,000 people could come to Fulton and not be trampled in the stampede to see our giant parade and all the other events. The traffic committee of the Festival Association imagined it in weeks and weeks of routing, parking and safety planning. The chiefs of police from our twin communities (Fulton, Ky. and South Fulton, Tenn.) called upon the Highway police departments from both states and secured enough highway patrolmen for each day, commensurate with the crowds. On Saturday, November 4, 40 highway patrolmen, 20 from each state, plus a cordon of motorcycle yellow jackets pleased everybody by being at the right place at the right time. With a highly efficient radio-communications system in touch with the highway police and our local police departments, the official entourage wended its way all over the city and environs with escorts picked up at various points to carry the ten-car caravan on to its next destination.

There was not a traffic accident, a bent fender, or an injury from traffic all during the festival. Our local police staffs had never handled this kind of traffic before, but they did it with tremendous efficiency and ease. They have the know-how to handle 100,000 people with no difficulty at all. Even the Kentucky National Guard volunteered to assist with the efficient traffic plan.

PRESS RELATIONS: The back office of the Chamber of Commerce was transformed into a precision-operated press room. Typewriters, telephones, copy-boys, direct Western Union service and press passes were in readiness when the metropolitan newspapers, wire services, magazine writers and weekly newspapers arrived. What's more, five press cars were allocated, with chauffeurs, to take visiting press anywhere they wanted to go... and waited for them. The press and cars, (and radio and TV, too) were the lead cars in the parade and the official entourage. Said one wire service reporter, "I've never had such treatment in covering a story. We usually have to get where we're going the best way we can and worry about parking, too." Not so at last year's Banana Festival.

RADIO AND TV COVERAGE: It is possible that the news-gathering national television staff may have had some reservations, from a standpoint of technical facilities, about coming to cover the Banana Festival. If there were any fears, they were quickly dispelled. Festival Association met planes, trains and busses to bring the television staffs to the city. A licensed first-phone broadcasting engineer was assigned to the TV and radio broadcasting staffs and instructed to stay with them every minute they were shooting film. Whatever electrical outlets, cable and lighting was needed by them and all the other television folks was anticipated in advance and made readily available to them when called for. A national TV broadcaster (NBC) expressed a desire to stay longer for the festival, but could not because of plane connections. A plane was chartered to take him to Nashville so he could stay for other festival activities later in the day.

Radio loops and a broadcast booth were made available in strategic places along the parade route so that visiting stations could "hook on" in a moment. Also motorcycle patrolmen were detailed to press and radio cars.

REST ROOM FACILITIES: Every down-town store, office building, and even private homes, had signs on their door fronts that said: "Rest room facilities available to you." What is more the Festival Association spent some $300 to build portable rest room facilities at our City Park, where some 3000 parade participants were fed, free of charge, before the three-mile march. When the guests were fed, the portable facilities, erected under the supervision of the Fulton County Health Department, were transported to strategic locations in the down-town areas.

WORLD'S LARGEST BANANA PUDDING: It takes real imagination, planning and more than a little courage to undertake this culinary feat. But if a one-ton banana pudding at any time bewildered the folks at the Fulton Pure Milk Company, it was nowhere apparent. Starting out with 250 pounds of vanilla wafers, gallons upon gallons of custard filling and 17 stalks of bananas, the staff at the Pure Milk Company whipped up the pudding on Saturday, so that it would be part of their float in the parade. The bananas were fresh and not a sign of discoloration. In a plastic container (see newspaper supplement) that cost several hundred dollars, the traffic experts performed another giant feat when they routed the Pure Milk Company float back to the main street so that some 10,000 people could eat the pudding. They did. Furnishing cups and spoons and arranging their lines so that the pudding could be served in a minimum of time, the bowl was "licked clean" in about an hour. Everybody who wanted a serving didn't get it, because the pudding ran out... but this year, the Pure Milk Company folks say, they will double the recipe. "It's not any harder to cook for a family of 20,000 than it is for a family of 10,000," W. P. Burnette and David Phelps say, with a smile.

HOSPITALITY BOOTHS: Lovely girls "manned" the hospitality booths from sun-up until the crowds were gone and away at the four main entrances to the city. Housing, restaurants, shopping, transportation and program information was dispensed with a sound knowledge of everything... all this and a free banana, too. Brochures and a schedule of events were handed out with the deliciously ripened fruit.

FOOD: No town with a population of 7000 people could possibly support enough restaurants to take care of thousands upon thousands of visitors who came to the twin cities during festival week. But the ladies for the Banana Festival Food booths, under the sponsorship of various civic, community and church groups were set up all along the main thoroughfares. Sandwiches, soft drinks, coffee, home-made cakes and pies and, of course, hamburgers and hot dogs were served "a la the kitchen at home." All the food booths did a brisk business. For those who wished the comfort of restaurants, the established cafes in the twin cities added extra tables, extra staffs and stocked the pantry with ample food to take care of any size crowd.

MUNICIPAL PARTICIPATION: There may be some thinking that "border" towns present problems because of their dual governments, etc. With our Banana Festival the twin communities mean double participation and cooperation in almost everything. The facilities of Kentucky and Tennessee State governments joined in planning the festival, as well as the two county governments and the two city governments. Each day the streets were cleaned and the city governments. Each day the streets were cleaned and the city governments. Each day the streets were cleaned and the city governments.

INTER-AMERICAN PARTICIPATION: It is neither idle prose nor poetry to say that we want to unite our communities and our countries with our Central American friends. We intend to do it with the same planning that produced the world's largest banana pudding.

First, we made a trip to the State Department in Washington to determine whether or not our program would meet with favor with those concerned. We went to the Pan-American Union and to the Undersecretary of State for Latin-American Affairs. They were pleased, more than enthusiastic, by our fresh approach... Smalltown, U. S. A. meets Smalltown, Central America... people to people make friendships. Each of our individual programs, with the Central American participation, is outlined generally. Specifics are in the working stage. The twin cities contain a large number of organizations than most Smalltowns, U. S. A. All of them are being assigned specific duties, each a duty commensurate with their knowledge and ability to fulfill the assignment.

Our elected representatives in Washington, from both States, are ready for the signal to perform their duties assigned them. Our Governors will fulfill the requests made of them, they have emphatically stated. Both the Departments of Commerce of Tennessee and Kentucky were officially represented at exploratory meetings in Washington. They will assist whenever and however needed.

HOUSING ACCOMMODATIONS: As in the instance of the restaurants, it is not likely that a community the size of ours can support more hotel and motel accommodations than the tourist and commercial traffic will bear. However, a housing committee was appointed last year to compile a list of first-class accommodations within a 50-mile radius of the city. When all local accommodations were filled, it was a matter of a phone call to house our visitors and guests in area hotels and motels. A list of local homes, agreeable to housing our visitors, was also compiled and guests accommodated in that manner.

HOUSING FOR STAGING EVENTS: While the twin cities do not boast of a community auditorium large enough to accommodate thousands of persons, the auditoriums of Fulton and South Fulton schools have a seating capacity of 1800 and 1800, respectively. For our first year this auditorium space presented a problem on the night of the final beauty pageant, with Miss America in attendance. Crowds were turned away. This year, with weather permitting, the larger events will be staged at our ball park, with a seating capacity of some 2500. Portable bleachers, used during the parade on the main thoroughfare, will be used to swell the seating capacity at the ball park. It will be decorated and refurbished, of course.

However, plans for a Banana Exposition Center, financed with a Federal Grant, are being drawn by Lee Potter Smith and Associates, architects of Paducah, Ky. Barring any unforeseen circumstances, it will be open for our 1968 Festival. Federal funds for such an exposition, matched by already committed local funds, can be secured, City of Fulton officials advise after investigating the matter with appropriate Federal agencies.

It would take a lengthy book, and that, too, is being compiled, to enumerate all the concrete evidence needed to substantiate the fact that the Twin Cities of Fulton, Ky. and South Fulton, Tenn. are capable of staging the giant events connected with an undertaking the size of our second International Banana Festival.

As the old saying goes: You ain't seen nothing yet! We are small enough to work in harmony with efficiency, and big enough to think and accomplish anything anybody else can. We proved that, as you can see!

DID YOU KNOW???

During the past 30 years, agricultural efficiency has improved as much as in the 120 years previous.

There were an estimated 120 million cattle in the United States on January 1, an all time high.

The holes or eyes in Swiss cheese are a guide to quality. Carbon dioxide produced when the cheese cures forms holes. While fairly regular in shape and spacing, the holes vary in size. Generally, the larger the holes, the better the quality. Pin holes are a sign of poor quality and may indicate a bitter flavor.

SCATTERED PATTERN

About People and Things

We've been reading hereabouts that the World Boxing Association is having a little trouble maintaining honesty and good sportsmanship among some of the champs and would-be champs. The high moguls in WBA could save themselves a lot of worry if they'd just amble over to the United States Naval Academy and take a clue from the participants in the Navy's Junior Boxing Classes. For some 45 years the Navy has been building character and strength of body by giving boxing instructions to the youths of today. Naval officials consider such training a way to instruct the men of tomorrow.

Among some of the men of tomorrow who are getting those boxing instructions at Annapolis are Mac and Steve Baird, sons of Lt. Danny and Mrs. Baird, who live in the Maryland city where Danny (Dr. Baird) is stationed. Recently 140 youngsters participated in the 45th annual boxing started and directed for 35 years by Navy's internationally famous boxing coach, Spike Webb, who retired ten years ago. Boxing coach, Navy Captain A. J. Rubino, USNR, has taken over the program.

The boxers range in age from five to eleven years and weigh in from 50 to 110. Representatives of theatre, television, newsreel and cameras of national syndicates were on hand to record the proceedings.

These bouts are an annual social gathering for Navy folk. Fathers in uniform are seconds to the boxers. There are approximately 70 bouts. Cheering the contestants on are the fathers, mothers, brothers and sisters.

At the conclusion of the show the youngsters are awarded the Navy "N", the Navy medal and a copy of the official program; after which gallons of ice cream, milk and cookies are served by the mothers who are just as relieved as some of the youngsters when the "battling" is over.

Danny sent the homefolks a program of the annual event, which we were privileged to read and enjoy. Particularly did we enjoy a bit of prose directed to the young folks about how to play the game of life. It is such a thought-provoking morale builder we are reprinting it herewith in the hope you will appreciate the message as much as we did.

Here it is:

To the Boys of the Navy Junior Boxing Class, Annapolis, Maryland

Dear Boys: The Navy Junior Boxing Program, of which you are now a part, offers you many chances to become a better young man. In boxing, the spirit of "give and take" is part of the game. Life has always demanded the courage to "take it," and the ability to come back fighting. You will learn in this program that you can face a set-back, and then return to the battle unafraid.

Boys, I have a little poem that I would like you to read with your mommy and daddy. It goes like this. (This poem is a Chaplain's advice to a young athlete).

RULES FOR THE GAME OF LIFE

I am giving you the ball, son, and naming you the quarterback for your team in the game of life. I am your Coach, so I'll give it to you straight.

There is only one schedule to play. It lasts all your life. But consists of only one game. It is a long game with no time out and no substitution. You play the whole game—all your life.

You will have a great backfield. You're calling the signals but the other three fellows in the backfield with you have a great reputation. They are named Faith, Hope and Charity.

You'll work behind a truly powerful line. End to end, it consists of honesty, loyalty, devotion to duty, cleanliness and good behavior.

The goal posts are the pearly gates of heaven. God is the Referee and the sole official. He makes all the rules and there is no appeal from them.

There are ten rules. You know them as the ten Commandments and you play them in strict accordance with your religion.

There is also an important ground rule. It is—As you would that men should do to you do you also to them likewise.

In this game if you lose the ball you also lose the game.

Here is the ball. It is your immortal soul. Hold on to it. Now, Son, get in there and pitch. Let's see what you can do with it.

Miss Mann And Billy Joe Outland Exchange Vows At Riceville Church

Mr. and Mrs. Outland

At a lovely candlelight wedding in the Riceville Baptist Church on March 20 Miss Bodie Carolyn Mann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Adrian Mann of Route 1, Fulton, became the bride of Billy Joe Outland, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmus Outland of Murray. The Rev. Randall Johnson performed the double ring ceremony before an altar graced with large baskets of white gladioli and green foliage, flanked by branched candelabra holding soft glowing tapers.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her oldest brother, James Mann, was lovely in a gown of white slipper satin, made by her mother. It was designed with bell skirt, chapel length train, basque-fitted waist and long sleeves, tapering with deep points over the hands. Her veil of illusion was shoulder length, with a white satin pill box. Her bouquet was of white carnations, centered with a large white, purple-throated orchid, surrounded by tiny seed pearls.

Miss Mae Mann, sister of the bride, served as maid of honor. Her dress was of red satin, with street length bell skirt and three-quarter length sleeves. She carried a red and white carnation corsage. Miss Sue Ann Wade of Murray was junior bridesmaid and Miss Kaye Mann of Fulton presided at the guest register. Their dresses were also of red satin. All three attendants wore single strands of pearls, gifts from the bride.

James Outland, brother of the groom of Calvert City, was best man and ushers were Charles Outland, brother of the groom, and Don Mann, brother of the bride.

Preceding the ceremony Mr. Norman White, accompanied by Mrs. Frank LeMaster, sang "Because" and "I Love You Truly" and during the ceremony he sang, "The Wedding Prayer." The traditional wedding marches were also played by Mrs. LeMaster.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. Following the reception Mr. and Mrs. Outland left for a wedding trip to New Orleans. They will be at home in Calvert City, where the groom is employed by the Pennsalt Chemical Plant.

Miss Cynthia Campbell Pledges Vows To Norman Fulcher Saturday

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Watson Fulcher

In a double ring ceremony marked by dignity and simplicity, Miss Cynthia Kaye Campbell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Enoch Campbell of Fulton, became the bride of Norman Watson Fulcher of Jackson, Tenn., son of Mr. and Mrs. Luther Fulcher of Union City.

The wedding took place in the formal parlor of the First Baptist Church on Friday evening, the third of April. The Reverend Kenneth Duncan, minister of the church, officiated in the presence of the immediate families.

The mantel was centered with a handsome arrangement of white bridal flowers, including snap dragons, carnations and cushion mums. Flanking the floral arrangement were tall five-branched brass candelabras holding tall white candles.

Preceding the ceremony Mrs. L. C. Logan, organist, and Miss Cathy Campbell, sister of the bride, gave a program of nuptial music. The organ selections included "To A Wild Rose," MacDowell, "Prelude in A," Chopin and "The Swan," Saint-Saens. Miss Campbell sang "I Love You Truly," Carrie Jacobs Bond, and the wedding hymn, "O Perfect Love," Barnby.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a silk organza over taffeta ballerina wedding gown. The fitted bodice had a low round neckline and bracelet length sleeves and finished at the waistline with lace. The dome-shaped skirt had soft pleats around the waistline and a half skirt around the front. The bodice and skirt had imported Swiss embroidery applique and over-embroidered with seed pearls and iridescent sequins. Her bouffant shoulder length veil of misty English illusion was attached to a crown of seed pearls and she carried a bouquet of white orchids and stephanotis.

The maid of honor was Miss Sheila Waggoner, cousin of the bride. She wore an afternoon dress of petal pink silk linen designed with a blouse effect bodice and a sheath skirt. Her headdress was a matching circlet with a circular veil caught in the back with a single pink rose. Her accessories matched her dress and she carried a band bouquet of pink cymbidium orchids poised on soft green satin leaves.

William McKenzie served the groom as best man and Don Campbell, brother of the bride, served as usher.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Campbell chose a handsome costume suit of madonna blue textured silk. The neckline of the jacket featured an intricate closing. Her matching pillbox hat was fashioned of matching straw braid and veiling. Her accessories matched her suit and her corsage was of gardenias.

Mrs. Fulcher, mother of the groom wore a champagne suit of silk shantung. Contrasting piping set off the edge of the jacket and the neckline and sleeves of her dress. Her matching hat was of straw braid, single rose ornamenting the hat. Her accessories were champagne and her corsage was a cymbidium orchid.

Following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Campbell entertained with an informal reception in the church parlor. The bride's table was draped with a handsome cutwork cloth. Centering the table was a five-branched silver candelabra holding tall baroque candles, with a cluster of lilies placed at the base of the candelabra. Other appointments were of silver and crystal. The beautiful tiered wedding cake was topped with a lace vase, holding lilies of the valley and illusion puffs. Assisting at the reception were Mrs. John Waggoner, Mrs. Grady Marler, Mrs. Harry Moore, Junior and Mrs. Bobby Fulcher.

Out of town guests included Miss Martha Chambers, Mount Vernon, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. William McKenzie and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Moore, Jr., Jackson, Tenn.; Mr. and Mrs. John Waggoner, Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Henson and Mrs. John Campbell of Wingo, Ky.; Mrs. Noel Cameron and Mrs. Campbell

A farmer needs this, like a hole in the head

Farm weeds are easy to come by but hard to get rid of. This Canada Thistle may have come in a bag of cheap, cut-rate seed. Or in a bag of home-grown seed or neighbor-grown seed that had not been properly cleaned. Sure, weeds can be controlled by spraying and cultivating, but look at the effort and expense involved. How much easier it is to eliminate weeds before they start by planting only top-quality, thoroughly-cleaned, high-purity crop seeds . . . Southern States Quality Seeds. Your fields stay clean. # Treasures And Trash, Arts And Auctions At Paris Antique Show Hobbies ranging from duck decoy carving to modernistic wire sculpturing are expected to attract visitors to the second annual Antique and Hobby Show in Paris, Tenn., Saturday and Sunday, April 11 and 12.

The show is sponsored by the Grove Band Parents Club and proceeds will be used for the band program at Grove High School.

The duck decoys to be displayed were carved by David Martin, a 68-year-old retired automobile worker who learned his art from widely-known Ben Schmidt of Centerline, Mich. They were painted by his wife, who blends the authentic colors that make their ducks so attractive.

The wire sculpturing was done by Mrs. Jim Diggs, a former beauty contest winner who will also have paintings displayed in the show.

The art display is a new feature of the show this year. Thirty entries will be included in this division. Included will be a mosaic of Venetian glass in an adaptation of "The Tower of Blue Horses" by Frans Marc. This is the work of Mrs. John Nelson of Paris.

"The art display," said Mrs. John Manthey, co-chairman of the new feature, "will include modern abstract paintings and realist pictures, in all the different mediums, as well as line drawings. The exhibit will include the work of the self-taught and the neophyte, as well as those who have had much more formal teaching and many years of experience."

In the hobby division, there will be homemade violins and guitars, made by Marvin Wall, a retired railroad man; antique dolls from a collection owned by Mrs. Paul Russell and valued at over $5,000; a collection of wood from around the world and historical sites (such as the Alamo, Mount Vernon and the Hermitage) by Turley Stewart; and a collection of East African items (such as carved eland, spears and makeshin neckties) sent back to Paris by the Rev. and Mrs. Carlos Owen, a missionary family in Tanganyika.

Indian artifacts, guns (including a Kentucky long rifle made in Louisville over 100 years ago), Civil War relics, coins, stamps and many other items will be included among the hobby displays.

Antique clothing, glassware and such items as spectacles and razors will also be included among the exhibits. Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Weston are in charge of new exhibits this year and have arranged for the collections of many new exhibitors to be included in the show this year.

Admission will be 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for children. The show will be in the Grove High School gymnasium.

DUKEDOM NEWS

By Mrs. Hillman Westbrook

Miss Diane Watkins arrived Monday from Chicago for her postponed Easter visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Watkins and family. The nine inch snowfall in Chicago caused the delay.

Mrs. Randall Brown was hospitalized last week with flu, at which time both of her children had chicken pox at the home of their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Brown.

Mr. and Mrs. Garrett Bailey were in Memphis Tuesday for Mr. Bailey's check-up. He suffered injuries in a fall while at work last year. He was found to be sufficiently improved to be dismissed by the doctor.

Mrs. T. L. Ainley attended the funeral of her aunt, Mrs. Margaret Howard, at Mayfield last Wednesday. Mrs. Howard was 100 years and 7 months old and until she broke a hip a few weeks ago was in good health. Burial was at Burnett's Chapel near Sedalia.

Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Alfird are moving to a farm located south of Bell City. We are indeed sorry to lose this young couple from the community.

Mrs. Charlie Blaylock went to Jackson on Thursday to be fitted for a brace on account of a back injury sustained in a fall a few weeks ago.

The Book Mobile made a visit to our community last week and left new books in the library in the home of Mrs. W. W. Cunningham. Thanks to her interest and endeavor, we are one of the "readingest" groups in the county. But there are many people who fail to avail themselves of this privilege and opportunity. Stop some day, look over the books and if there are none to suit your need, make a request and she can secure for you, free of charge, whatever you would like. Education need never stop as long as good books are available.

Young people from near Dukedom who attended the Beta Convention at Nashville this past week end were: Jeanne Starnes, Larry Matthews and Ann Nanney.

Art Grissom passed away in Detroit after an extended illness and will be buried in Cadillac, Michigan. A cousin, Mrs. Eula Nelson, was sick and unable to go for the funeral.

Jet Trainer Lands In Fulton City Park

With the planning, help and coordination of a lot of interested people including the Air Force, Park Chairman, Louis Weeks, the City, the Illinois Central and Tress Menees wrecker service and many others, the Fulton City park is now the permanent resting place of an Air Force jet trainer. (above): fuselage is removed from flatcar Monday in local railroad yard.

Wings, first removed from the flatcar, were bolted together at park site before fuselage arrived. Plane was donated by the Air Force and was carried gratis from Chasco field to Fulton by the Illinois Central.

In a home-made but effective "harness", fuselage was hoisted by wrecker from low-bay transport and lowered to wings by Tress and Menees wrecker. It was an all-day job.

Wings and fuselage were being bolted together as this picture was made; props were then removed and reassembled plane ready for inspection by the carmen. Plane is complete, lacking only instruments and motor.

Cow Falls On Robert Graves; Injuries Fatal

Robert Kirksey Graves, 55-year-old Graves County farmer who resided in the Kingston Store community, died shortly after 6 p. m. Saturday in a Memphis hospital, some 10 hours after a cow fell on him while he was milking.

Graves' father-in-law, Willie J. Yates, had gone to the former's home Saturday to take him to Trade Day in Wingo. Falling to get a response to his call, Yates investigated and found Graves on the ground lying beneath a cow which had apparently fallen.

The cow was wearing "kick-ers," and its head was in a stanchion.

Yates succeeded in removing Graves' unconscious form from beneath the cow — and he was rushed to Jones' Clinic here.

After a preliminary examination, doctors here decided to send Graves to Methodist Hospital in Memphis.

Graves leaves his wife, Mrs. Christine Graves, Fulton, route 5; two daughters, Mrs. Kenneth Mulcahy, Fulton, route 5, and Mrs. Alvin Ray Smith, Fulton, 5; two brothers, Colley Graves, Dublin, and Nelson Graves, near Farmington; three sisters, Mrs. Ella Pursell, near Sedalia, Mrs. Goebel Patterson, Farmington, and Mrs. Edith Kinsey, Detroit; and two grandchildren.

Funeral services were conducted at 2 p. m. today at the Bethlehem Methodist Church by Bro. L. E. Moore, with burial in the church cemetery, with Jackson Bros. Funeral Home in charge.

Ronnie Bequette, 15, Killed Instantly In Car Accident

Ronnie Bequette was 15 years old. He had been driving a car for a long time, his friends said. He was a good driver. Last Friday night, driving alone on West State Line, in a steady rainfall and on perhaps an unusually slick highway, Ronnie was killed instantly when his car left the highway, hit a utility pole and threw him out of the car.

The accident occurred about 7:30 p. m. It is believed that the 1963 Chevrolet that Ronnie was driving went out of control. Ronnie aid Dale (Ronnie) was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Hardy W. Bequette of Fulton. He was a sophomore at Fulton High school. The family formerly lived in Hickman, and now lives at 408 Pearl Street.

The West State Line-Union City-Hickman Highway intersection, where the tragedy happened is in Kentucky, but the pole against which the car came to rest is in Tennessee. The pole was severed.

Services were held Sunday at 2:30 p. m. at the Whitel Funeral Home. Rev. Harold Smotherman, pastor of the Riceville Baptist church, officiated. Interment was in the city cemetery at Hickman.

Young Bequette was born October 3, 1948 in Hickman, Kentucky. His mother was the former Laverne Hutchens. Besides his parents, he leaves two brothers, Harold Thomas Bequette of Memphis, Barry Bequette of Fulton; his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Herschel DeOrman of Poplar Bluff, Mo., several uncles and one niece.

● AUSTIN SPRINGS

By Mrs. Garry Friebe

Mrs. T. T. Harris left Saturday for Memphis to enter the Baptist Hospital, where she will undergo surgery early this week. Every good wish is hoped for her at this time by all friends in this area. Her daughter, Mrs. Naomi Tuck, and son Richard, of Orlando, Fla., and Miss Ruth Harris of Tallahassee are here to be at the bedside, also the youngest daughter, Mrs. J. W. Bynum.

regular appointment at New Salem Baptist Church the past Sunday at 11 a. m. and also the evening service, following the Baptist Training Union.

Dave Mathis of this village is not feeling so well, suffering from pains in his shoulder, and is indisposed at this writing.

Grant Bynum returned to Hillview Hospital Thursday for his check-up from recent surgery for the removal of a mole on his face. He is doing nicely, to the delight of many friends in this section.

Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Darnell are now able to be getting out some, we are glad to report.

This section was saddened and grieved over the tragic death of Miss Daisy Shelton, beloved retired school teacher, who lost her life in a fire near Dukedom the past week. We extend deep sympathy to the family.

Mr. and Mrs. Fox of East Tennessee arrived in this area Saturday night and were the house guests of Rev. and Mrs. T. T. Harris and family. They were friends of the Harris people when they resided in Jefferson City, Tenn. They left Sunday and were in Alamo, Tenn. church services at New Salem Baptist Church on Sunday.

Biology Class Studies Structure And Anatomy of Worms and Frogs

Several members of the second hour biology class examine two dissected frogs. They are Tom Bushart, Carth Hancock, Jennie Hinton, Freddie Wells, Sara Jane Poe, Lynne Holloway, and Jody Hoodenpyle.

The biology classes of F. H. S., held first and second period in room nine, are taught by Miss Janet Allen.

During the first semester the biology classes studied all types of plant life, starting with the simplest forms of algae and advancing to the seed plants. At the beginning of the second semester the students studied animal life beginning with the amoeba. They are currently studying the vertebrates and will begin their study of man soon after the frog.

Each class has dissected such things as earthworms, clams, crayfish, starfish, and grasshopper. They have just concluded the dissection of the frog. Each student is expected to draw and label the various systems of the animal.

Miss Allen used the school's new thermo-fax projector to a great extent in her teaching. She also has a single-frame projector and several film rolls. These rolls have self-explaining captions on each frame. There are also numerous specimens of plants and animals preserved in formaldehyde.

Miss Allen has a Bachelor's Degree in biology and is currently working on her Master's Degree at Murray State College. She has had, in addition, two years of medical school. Besides teaching biology, she also teaches general science and physical science.

This Is Future Homemakers Week! Our Youths Prepare For Tomorrow

April 8th through 11th is being observed all over the United States as National Future Homemakers Week.

The Fulton County Chapter at Fulton County High School is celebrating the week by having two radio broadcasts over WFUL. The first was at 4 p. m. on Tuesday, April 7, and the second will be at 4 p. m. on Thursday, April 9. This week all FHA girls are wearing the national colors, red and white. A ball game was held April 7 in FHS gym between FHS girls and non-FHA girls.

The Future Homemakers of America are home economic students in junior and senior high schools. Members of this national youth organization, now in its 19th year, work toward the over-all goal of helping individuals improve personal, family and community living. A national program of work guides the activity of individual members and chapters. Projects on this year's programs are: 1. You and your values; 2. Focus on family friendship; 3. Marriage calls for preparation; 4. Stay in school; 5. Action for citizenship.

It's Later Than You Think For Filing Returns

Kentucky's District Director of Internal Revenue, G. C. Hooks, said today that approximately five out of every eight Kentuckians required to file 1963 Federal Income Tax returns have filed. Mr. Hooks said that he is basing this on the fact that approximately 863,000 returns are annually received in the Louisville office, and that as of April 1 a little over 550,000 returns had been received.

Director Hooks said that if you are one of those Kentucky taxpayers who has not filed, you have only until midnight April 15th in which to file a timely return.

He further said that taxpayers due a refund, should mail their returns to:

Refunds
P. O. Box 1964
Louisville, Kentucky 40201

All other type returns should be mailed to:

Kentucky Windage

By F. W.

A long caravan of autos, representing the 1964 California-to-New York Mobil economy run, passed through Fulton Tuesday morning enroute north after an overnight stay in Memphis.

They were very economical with their stay here; in fact they didn't even slow down.

There seemed to be all kinds of cars, and all kinds of drivers. About all else I can report about this great event in Tuesday's history is that I was glad there was a break in the string of cars so I could get across the West State Line intersection and get the children to school on time. We are "economy"-minded at our house too; the morning timetable from arising to entering the school door is calculated in seconds.

I guess every soldier who has ever served under General Douglas MacArthur has some kind of an unusual story to tell about him, and as the NY Times pointed out this week following the General's death, he DID have a flair for publicity that sometimes created repercussions!

I was in Manila for nearly a year, under MacArthur headquarters from July 1945 until March 1946, and that included just after recapture of the city, through the dropping of the atomic bombs on Japan, signing of the armistice and many months following. But probably my first brush with him sticks the strongest in my mind.

There were 8000 troops from the Mediterranean, including me, who had made a six-week crossing of the Atlantic, through the Panama Canal and a zig-zag crossing of the whole Pacific in terribly cramped quarters even on the big liner Uruguay. Bunks were five-high in all staterooms, and down on the lower decks the men were stacked in like cattle. It was terribly hot throughout the Pacific trip, yet we had to be "black-out" at night, which meant closing all portholes and shutting off all ventilation for security sake, whether we liked it or not.

So one morning we finally dropped anchor in Manila bay, and there in front of us was the city, or what remained of it . . . and we were told to quickly pack our gear and prepare to disembark.

So we eagerly packed, but we didn't disembark. MacArthur wasn't ready to officially receive us! I'll have you know we spent nearly four more days on that steel-encased turkish-bath of a tub—the former flagship of the Moore-McCormick lines—called the Uruguay, in the intense, still heat of Manila bay, with the perspiration running off us in never-ending streams, while the General assembled his photographers and press people to receive the first boat-load of troops from the European theater. And not a soul got off that ship until after the third day, when a special little group of landing barges were filled with troops in clean (?) uniforms, rifles over their shoulders, packs on their backs, making a specially-staged speed-run from the ship to a point on the shore where the General and his staff stood in front of newscameras and photographers with outstretched hands.

Thirty minutes later the other 4700 of us disembarked with shirt-tails flying, dragging packs, barracks bags, duffel bags and whatever else we had, in a grimy, weary mass, thankful at last to plant our feet on terra firma, and hoping the general had returned to his office and gotten himself lost.

He had.

DETROIT NEWS

By Roy Manner

The weather man sure goofed last Friday. He said it would be sunny and cloudy, but at 8 a. m. it started to snow and by 7 a. m. you have never seen so much wet snow and slush.

The Easter egg hunt was well attended, about 30 children there. It was a little warm, so you can imagine how they looked after being in the field looking for eggs. All had a good time.

Mrs. Toome, from Mayfield, was a visitor at our church recently. We had two new babies born, a boy to John and Glenda (McAllister) Ferguson, named John Roberts Ferguson; a boy to L. and Mrs. David (Dorothy Bowden) Kidd, named Dean Allen Kidd.

Janice Garland had the measles over Easter week end and could not hunt for any eggs, so I took her some on my way home which was just what she wanted.

Mrs. Alta Roland slipped and fell in her home, injuring her back, and is in St. Joseph's Hospital.

Ralph Kirby is expected home this week from St. Joseph's Hospital.

Our sympathy to the family of the late W. Glen Waller, who passed away recently. His Masonic Lodge conducted the funeral services.

The Good Friday services at Wesley Methodist Church in Warren was well attended by our church members, as Rev. Nunn was one of the speakers. About 300 people were there, some from other churches.

A good sign of spring is when the young ladies bring their new boy friends to church with them. You all know the old saying about spring.

See you in church Sunday. When in Detroit, come out to see us. If you can't come, give me a call at 839-3074.

Letters To Editor

The Editor
Fulton County News

We want you to know that we have appreciated The News since we have been here at our cottage in the lake region (Grenada Lake). I don't think we have missed a single copy. It would be wonderful if it was daily, with the service you have.

See you are having the Clean Up, Paint Up campaign going, which is fine. Want to paint my store building, but when I think of it I think of the mud hole on south side of Siegel's (Ky. side) and I get out of the notion.

Yours truly,
G. B. Butcherworth

MITCHELL RE-ELECTED!
Officers elected for the Fulton Band Parents at a meeting held on April 2nd are: Vyrion Mitchell, president; Mrs. Stanley Jones, vice president; Mrs. Glynn Bushart, secretary; L. M. McBride, treasurer.

Your Wisest investment of time...

REGULAR CHURCH WORSHIP

"I was glad when they said unto me, let us go into the house of the Lord."

I am Thankful... for good health, and for the food that I have each day. I am thankful for those near and dear to me that I can love, and in turn love me. I am thankful for the freedom of my nation, and that I can worship as I please. I am thankful that God loved me so much, that he provided a way for my salvation. I am thankful that he is a forgiving Father. I am thankful that I can attend Church and worship my Lord each Sunday.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

WHAT GOES—

Council and Mayor would all be fired. If they wanted to serve under the new form of government they would have to seek re-election.

Councilman John Bland's motion to enforce the dog ordinance recalls a statement made at another meeting when the subject of the dog law enforcement was brought up. Said a tax-paying, determined-looking guy: "Anybody that picks up my dog will be looking into a double-barrelled shot-gun."

COUNCIL PAYS—

Fulton.

Another area of controversy that arose at the meeting was the payment of a statement submitted by Nichols Engineering Co. of Union City for services rendered in connection with the extension of municipal facilities to the Martin Highway area. Here again, Bland took the stand to question the statement.

A notation on the statement "for services according to our contract" brought the question from Bland as to the whereabouts of the contract and "why was the bill held up for seven or eight months?"

(The statement on file at the South Fulton City Hall is dated December 17, 1963. The fee is based on services rendered in a contract dated February 7, 1963 for exploratory work done to extend certain municipal facilities to residents on the Martin Highway. The contract is on file, dated February 7, 1963. Councilman Claiborne told the News on Wednesday he had made a diligent search for the contract and was unable to find it. Both Bland and Claiborne contend there was an earlier contract, which cannot be located.)

NOTEBOOK—

Monday morning a communication came for some outfit called the Jury Verdict Research, Inc. This firm in Cleveland, Ohio has developed a method of predicting jury verdicts in advance, thus making the long wait for a jury trial no longer necessary. Researching some 25,000 personal injury actions, Jury Verdict, Inc. the company found that most jury awards were remarkably similar.

So, if you are the injured person, the new service in jury verdict prediction means that you won't have to wait years to find out the answer. You can ask your lawyer (or the insurance company) to find out what your injury should be settled for according to the Personal Injury Valuation Handbooks and he should be able to secure a settlement quickly on that basis.

No fuss, no bother, no trial, no nothing. Just settle out of court and that's that. If this kind of business keeps up, looks like the old beloved courtroom, with the pot bellied stove, the ancient furniture and the sagging window shades is headed right for the junk heap.

NEW PRESIDENT

Bobby Snyder, science and mathematics teacher at Fulton High School, was elected president of the Fulton City Education Association last week. Other officers elected were Mrs. Fred Bondurant, vice president, and Mrs. M. L. Herring, secretary-treasurer.
